

Gesellschaft für Umweltsimulation e.V.
Spring Meeting Report 2005 to CEEES

The GUS Working group »Theory and application of force measurement and force limitation for vibration tests« took place in Bremen, on January 24-25, 2005. The workshop was moderated by Swen Ritzmann, Astro- und Feinwerktechnik Adlershof GmbH and hosted by the Center of Applied Aerospace Technology and Microgravity, ZARM, University Bremen. For more information please contact s.ritzmann@astrofein.com.

The GUS Working group »Electronic Reliability« took place in Ingolstadt, on January 27th, 2005. The workshop was moderated by Dr. Helmut Schweigart and hosted by ZESTRON Europe, Ingolstadt. For more information please contact h.schweigart@zestron.com.

The 34th Annual Technical Meeting of the GUS will happen at Pfinztal, March 2 – 4, 2005.

Some 23 contributions will be presented in four sessions

(see also www.gus-ev.de):

- Basics in environmental testing
- Functional behavior and reliability of parts and components
- Weathering and thermal influences
- Ways to numerical environmental simulation.

In conjunction to the technical meeting the GUS Annual General Assembly will be held on the 3rd March, 2005. The GUS Working group »Numerical environmental testing« will also meet at the same occasion on March 1 - 2, 2005.

GUS-Members will present papers at the ESTECH-2005, Woodfield, Chicago, USA May 1-4.

In cooperation with SENSOR & TEST 2005 Exhibition the “Int. CEEES Conference on Methods and Benefits of Environmental Testing & Engineering”, organized by GUS, will take place in Nuremberg on May 11-12, 2005.

Members of the program committee are:

Walter Bosschaerts, BEST, Belgium

William H. Connon, US Army Aberdeen Test Center, Aberdeen, USA

Werner Daum, BAM, Germany

Aad van Dorp, PLOT, The Netherlands

Michel Holy, SSEE, Switzerland

Peter Eriksson, SEES, Sweden

Henry Greszkowiak, ASTE, France

Markku Juntunen, KOTEL, Finland

Dagmar Knotkova, NACEI, Czech Republic

Leopold Kranner, ofi - Austrian Research Institute for Chemistry and Technology, Austria

Marco Perego, AITPA, Italy

David Richards, SEE, UK

Zeev Sherf, RAFAEL, Haifa, IL

Otto Brunner, ESA-ESTEC, NL

Karl-Friedrich Ziegahn, GUS, Germany (Chairman)

(For further information please see also www.gus-ev.de).

On behalf of CEEES GUS will organize the second European Weathering Symposium EWS in Gothenburg, Sweden, June 15th-17th, 2005. More than 35 papers and posters will be presented. GUS will be supported by CHALMERS, Gothenburg and by SP, Boras, as local organizers. Additional Information will be found in the net: www.weathering.org or www.gus-ev.de.

GUS members will participate at the 36th International Annual Conference on Energetic Materials of Fraunhofer ICT in Karlsruhe, June 28th–July 1st, 2005.

Pfingztal, February 2005

Prof. Dr. Hiltmar Schubert

- GUS-President -